THE EXTREME HOT SPELL THAT HAS GRIPPED HONOLULU FOR THE PAST FEW DAYS HAS MADE THE BEACH AT WAIKIKI A VERY LIVELY SCENE

THE heat during the past two days drove all of Honolulu to Waikiki. The surf has been better than for months past, and those who know the art of board-riding have had a fill of it. Saturday and Sunday were gay scenes on the beach about the Hotel Annex. At one time over 150 heads were counted bobbing up and down serenely in the waves, and canoeing parties have been seen in greater numbers than for a long time. Oddly enough, there has been an inexplicable dearth of canoeing parties for some months past and the natives who live by the way of the paddle complain constantly of lack of patronage.

Charley, the stalwart native whose figure is immortalized in a thousand kodak pictures, and who has posed for photographers and painters innumerable, has a big kick. He says, like Othello, his occupation is gone, and that whereas once dollars were not rare from the pockets of tourists and artists, now quarters would be gladly welcomed. He says that folks prefer to lie in the sand and talk rather than enjoy the noblest sport that has survived the coming of the haole. Charley tells the story of the big tidal ways of some scores of years ago, memories of which were still fresh in his childhood, when a native rode a sixty-foot wave a quarter of a mile to shore and landed safe without ever splintering his board.

Charley says that a dollar is not too much to pay for a canoe ride, and that if he charged less he wouldn't be able to keep the canoe in repair and his stomach lired with pol. Others, however, differ with Charley, and think that a half dollar charge for each passenger would make canoeing much more popular.

Canoeing is gaining a foothold in embryo at Narragansett Pier and other Atlantic watering places. At the former resort the surfboard has come well into favor and the New York papers last summer commented freely and favorably upon the sport. The novelty was undoubtedly introduced by someone familiar with the Hawaiian surfing custom, who probably found the big rollers of the Atlantic Coast peculiarly adapted for riding upon their crests. Canoes were then talked of, and no doubt another season will find canoes of the Hawaiian type much in vogue at the swell watering resorts.

TUFEMEN TO INVESTIGATE

Talk of a Foul at the Track.

IS FERREIRA INELIGIBLE?

Brock Outclasses Manuelli and Takes the Purse at Kapiolani Park.

Another race has been run over Kapiolani's historic track, a hitherto unheard-of horse has sprung into notoriety, and another equine name has been added to the endless scroll wherein are inscribed the appellations of good things gone wrong.

The articles called for a quarter of a mile race between J. A. Nunes' Manuelli and Domingo Ferreira's Brock. The purse was $250 a side and each horse was to carry 117 pounds.

On July 28th these two horses met at the same distance for a nominal purse, when Manuelli, ridden by a featherweight, won easily. Saturday's match was the outcome of discussion created by their former meeting.

Both horses were supposed to be in excellent shape and to have beaten 25 seconds in their trials, and interest in the event among sporting men ran high, being especially stimulated by the common gossip that L. H. Dee was putting up the Manuelli end of the purse, while Tom Hollinger had gone down in his pockets for the remaining $250.

A strong tip on Manuelli was circulated around town on Saturday morning and reports that he had run in 25 seconds, and absolutely could not lose unless he fell down, were as plentiful as bill collectors on board the Australia on sailing day.

Until the very last minute the utmost secrecy as to jockeys and officials was maintained and an air of mystery hung over the affair, which was depressing to the horse sharps.

Soon after 3 o'clock in the afternoon the sports began to show up on the scene of action and by the time the race was called there was as choice a selection of gentlemen "who know a good horse when they see one" as could be desired.

Prominent in the collection were Charlie Donahue, Jim Gorman, "Beth" Nichols, Larry Dee, Jack Gibson, Will Wright, Johnny Wright, Dick Long, Jim Brown, Mike Costello, "Bonnie" Judd, W. Hall, J. A. Nunes, "Cap" Cloney, Bill Norton, Jimmy Hewson, Captain Freeman, John Ouderikirk, Henry Vieira, Charlie Bellina, W. Bellina, E. A. Moesman, Fred Goudie, George Dorch, Dan Crowley, George Mady, J. Campbell, J. Callan, Tom Hollinger, Sam Grigsby, J. A. Morgan, H. M. Ayres and many others.

It was announced that the starters would be John Wright and J. Ouderikirk, the judges, Captain Cloney, "Bonnie" Judd and J. Campbell and that Domingo Ferreira would ride Brock and Ed. Finn Manuelli.

Betting on the race was exceedingly brisk and over $1,000 must have changed hands. There was at first no support accorded Brock at even money and 30 to 20 was offered before anyone could be found to back the sorrel. On the other hand, Manuelli money was lying about the paddock in 100 notes, 50 gold pieces and in ingots of both gold and silver. Presently a man came along with 200 to bet on Brock at even and the crowd immediately smelt something doing, and thereafter the seeker after odds against Brock was treated derisively.

By 4 o'clock the congregation had bet itself to a standstill and the judges sought their stand and the horses were brought out. Brock came across country to the track from Hollinger's place. Manuelli was stable at the track and the door of his stall was festooned with yards of mosquito netting. This fact probably accounted for the rumor that there were no flies on the brown horse.

Brock was certainly the "better looking" and has much improved in condition during the last three weeks. Manuelli, a mere pony, looked tucked up. The sorrel made many friends at post time.

The flag fell to a good start with Manuelli in possession of the pole. Almost immediately after the start Brock's rider deliberately crossed the brown horse and stole the inside berth, causing his jockey to pull out and thereby lose over a length, a material disadvantage in so short a race. Both boys were whipping coming down the stretch, but Brock was never headed, and won as he liked by two and a half lengths in 25 seconds. Manuelli got an atrocious ride, but was out-classed anyhow. His boy sat with his head in the ground and bemoaned him as a giraffe might a hippopotamus.

Without waiting to hear the starter's report, the judges declared Brock the winner, no protest having been registered by Manuelli's jockey.

Bets were being paid when John Ouderikirk arrived on the scene from the starting point with the report of the fouling and was astounded to hear that Brock had been announced the winner. Mr. Ouderikirk was entirely disinterested, not having bet a penny on the race. He declared his intention of never starting another race in which Ferreira rode.

The incident created great dissatisfaction, and had Finn, who rode Manuelli, lodged an objection before weighing in, the winner would undoubtedly have been disqualified. It is inconceivable how a man of Finn's track experience could have been guilty of such gross oversight.

Immediately after the judges' decision was announced Ferreira vanished from the scene of his many triumphs and with him went the good horse Brock.

After discussing various topics, principal among which was a rumor to the effect that Brock is not an Hawaiian-bred horse at all, as stated in his entries, but an importation from Kentucky, and after expressing a well-developed opinion that some person or persons had been pretty badly thrown down over the race, the crowd went home.

According to latest reports, the stakeholder, Mr. L. H. Dee, has refused to pay over the stakes, and is holding them pending an investigation.

There are a great many horsemen in town who would like to know why it was that Domingo Ferreira was allowed to ride Brock. Ferreira was ruled off for nefarious practices a year ago last June and has not yet been reinstated, yet he was given a mount in a race conducted ostensibly under Pacific Jockey Club auspices.

There is talk of another match race between Brock and Manuelli. The latter's connections profess to be dissatisfied with the outcome of Saturday's procession.

There is said to be a demand for an investigation of Saturday's race and steps will probably be taken today to institute one.

The next event on the local track will be a mile heat between Samuel Decker's Bones and Jimmy Hewson's Mongoose next Saturday.

Antidote arrived in town by the last Kinau. What will be the closing chapters of the game old grey's career?

Iago, who recently won the half-mile Hawaiian-bred race at Hilo, has been purchased for $300 from John M. Hopper by a local horse dealer and shipped here on the last Kinau.

Joe McAuliffe is back from Hilo. He looks as well as ever and earned golden opinions by his management of horses entrusted to his care.

The police will shoot a return match with Company E, National Guard of Hawaii, next Saturday.

The postponed police field day to be held at Punahou will probably take place during the next two weeks.

When Hansen returns to his native heath he will find the air bristling with challenges. One of his would-be opponents is an Australian middleweight who is at present engaged in the meat business. Another prospective argument is with a gentleman of fast ability at present putting in his time quenching fires.

While the third man with suicidal propensities—well, it doesn't matter anyway. The Helene, with P. Whitney and party on board, sailed down to Pearl Harbor on Saturday afternoon and anchored in the lagoon. Quite a number of other craft were moored in the vicinity.

Edith—"Professor, I've discovered why poets and scientific men wear long hair."

Professor—"Ah, Miss Edith, that is indeed a discovery. Why is it?"

Edith—"It is because they haven't any sense of humor."

NEWS COMES OF THE IROQUOIS

Letter From Lieutenant Commander Pond by Way of China.

On or before the middle of next month the United States Gunboat Iroquois will be back in Honolulu after three months surveying work about Midway Island. This information was received on Saturday by Captain Merry in a letter from Lieut. Commander Charles F. Pond, commanding the Iroquois.

The news from the Iroquois came in a somewhat roundabout fashion: When the China was last here Captain Merry had a talk with Captain Seabury, her skipper, and he agreed if possible to perk the Iroquois and find out how matters were going with the staunch little boat. Accordingly a package of papers was made up, together with a quantity of mail which had been accumulating since the Iroquois left here in the middle of May, and this Captain Seabury said he should try to deliver to the Iroquois' commander. On Saturday Captain Merry received a letter from Commander Pond, dated at Midway Island, July 3rd, telling of the progress of the work and the health and safety of the entire crew. Commander Pond says that all of the inside surveying and plotting of the shores of the island for the laying of a cable had been finished at that time and that he expected to complete the outside work in a few weeks and would arrive in Honolulu about August 10th or 15th. Commander Pond's letter was taken by the China to Yokohama and there posted by Captain Seabury, and came back from the Orient by the City of Peking.

The Iroquois sailed from Honolulu on May 19th for Midway Island to sound the waters all about the island for the purpose of ascertaining its availability as a point for the landing of a cable. The island is but a barren sand spit a couple of thousand miles west of the Hawaiian Islands, and since the Iroquois departed nothing has been heard of her until the news arrived on Saturday.

TAKES EXAMINATION.

Emil Pilgrim Will be Tested for the Kaiser's Army.

Emil Pilgrim, of Hackfeld & Company's office in Hilo, arrived by the Kinau Saturday for the purpose of undergoing examination by the surgeon of the German war vessel Geier as to his physical fitness for service in the German army. Mr. Pilgrim will go before the surgeon to-day and stand the test. In every part of the world where German subjects are to be found there is a station where they can be examined by physicians.

Upon the report of the latter those who have passed a favorable examination may be called upon from the home office within a certain period to return to the Fatherland and don the uniform. The arrival of the Geier in this port saved Mr. Pilgrim from making a journey to the Mainland, as the ship's surgeon is an accredited examiner for Emperor William's recruiting service.

HONOR MR. HASSINGER.

Interior Department Clerks Present Testimonial.

John A. Hassinger, who retired from the position of chief clerk of the Interior department on June 14, was made the recipient of a handsome testimonial by his fellow employees on Saturday.

It was in the shape of a gold watch charm, enameled with the Hawaiian coat-of-arms in colors. The charm bears the inscription: "John A. Hassinger, With Aloha from the clerks of the Interior department, June 14, 1900." Together with the charm was an address wherein the clerks expressed their sorrow at parting with the former chief. It was signed by Jas. H. Boyd, George C. Ross, Manuel Cook, George Rosa, James Kulike. The five gentlemen went in a body to the home of Mr. Hassinger where Col. Boyd presented the charm with a pleasant address of congratulation and aloha.

(From N. Y. Maritime Register.) Packages brought from Hawaii without certificate, and which may be dutiable, should be examined.

Treasury Department, June 14, 1900. Collector of Customs, San Francisco, Cal.: After entry of vessel from Hawaii, packages not accompanied by certificate required from chief customs officer at port in Hawaii showing date of importation, and which may be dutiable, should be examined by customs officers.
